SINGLE COPY 15c

Two children seriously injured

Two children were injured in this single-vehicle accident Monday on SR80 about five miles east of Belle Glade, Florida Highway. Patrol Trooper Richard Cheek reported that Rignald D. Ford, 7, and Essie Lorraine Ford, 13, son and daughter of Bennie Mae Rockwell Ford, 33, of 120 Osceola Center, were first carried to Glades General Hospital and then helicoptered to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach to be treated for injuries. The elder Ford was reported driving west on SR80 with her six children when she attempted to pass a long line of cars. Mrs. Ford was traveling too fast to complete her passing, although she had passed several cars, and she skidded off the road when she applied her brakes, sending the vehicle with its seven inhabitants into a drainage ditch on the south side of the highway. Admitted to Glades General Hospital was John Ford, 12. Treated and released were Mrs. Ford, Arthur Lee, 14, Sabrina, 8, and Belinda, 4 months.

Candidates are questioned...again

The Belle Glade Herald's Question of the Week for the City Commission election Sept. 14 drew 100 per cent response this week as every one of the six candidates for office responded.

This is the second of a series of three questions. The Herald is printing to inform the citizenry of how the candidates feel about certain issues and what their platform are. This week, there are two questions.

1. What kind of working relationship should the commissioners have with the city administration? and:

2. What approach should the city take to a recreational program?

Areas which might be considered are the extent in programs and time the city should back, the financing and cooperation with other agencies, the City Marina, the Municipal Swimming Pools, parks and your own pet projects, if any.

Answers are arranged alphabetically by groups.

GROUP ONE

Thomas Altman
1. Under the City Manager form of government, the City Commission has the responsibilities of establishing policy, making laws and appropriating money. The City administration has the responsibility of carrying out the established policy. The City Commission, as a body, gives instructions to the city manager and not directly to city employees. The citizens of Belle Glade established this form of government when they adopted our City Charter and, until such time as the citizens decide to change the Charter, the city commission and city administration must operate within that framework.

2. The City should seek a total community recreation program with adequate facilities and proper supervision. We should consider three levels of facilities: 1. mini-parks, consisting of small areas serving a few block radius; 2. neighborhood parks, consisting of a wider variety of activities and serving approximately a one-half mile radius; 3. area wide parks, consisting of several acres with total recreational needs for all ages, serving approximately a 1.5 mile radius. The city is preparing to begin construction of its first area-wide park in the Lakeshore Park area. Funds through the Community Development Department, this ten-acre facility will have tennis courts, baseball field, basketball courts, skating pad, tot lot, volleyball courts and other activities. We need another facility of this type, probably in northeast Belle Glade, to meet the service area requirements we have.

Several months ago, I submitted to the City Commission a proposal for the creation of an independent Recreation Fund. This would include revenues and expenditures from all our recreation activities and would be totally self-supporting. Furthermore, I have sought subdivision regulations revision calling for open space designation for the use of mini-parks and neighborhood parks.

Panel named to study Glades jury venire

Palm Beach County Judge Don T. Adams, who presides in the courtroom at the Glades County Building, was one of six county judges named last Friday to a committee to discuss the possibility of setting up a separate jury district in the Glades.

Judge Adams said he was named to the committee during a regular meeting of the judges in Palm Beach County called Friday by Chief Judge Thomas E. Scholtz.

Scholtz, Adams said, announced the names after saying he had been "timed" with letters and petitions requesting the separate jury venire.

Scholtz named Circuit Judge James R. Stewart Jr. to chair the committee. Other members are Circuit Judges Louis Kapner and Robert S. Hewitt and County Judges Hammond H. Harrison Jr. and Vaughn J. Rudnick. Rudnick was named to the committee by the others.

The committee is the direct result of a new law passed by the 1976 State Legislature which allows two or more jury pools, representing population centers other than the county seat, in counties with populations exceeding 30,000.

That legislation was actively sought by Judge Adams and City Assistant Attorney Michael Miller in January when they made the request of the Palm Beach County delegation.

A bill was filed by Representatives Tom Lewis and Bill James but another bill, filed by Representative William A. Freeman of Key West was the one adopted. One basic difference between the two bills was the Lewis-James bill didn't include a population limit.

Another basic difference between the two bills was what led to the committee. Had the Lewis-James bill been passed, the county commission could have set up the separate venire by itself. The Freeman bill allows the county commission to set up the separate venire only on request by a majority of the judges in the county.

This means at least seven of the 12 judges in the 15th Judicial Circuit would need to make the request at this time. Should the request come after the new judges are chosen in the upcoming election, another one would have to agree to the request.

Should the judges make the request, and the county

City Commission puts $6,000 tag on project lots

The Belle Glade City Commission tentatively decided in workshop session last week to set the price of the last 32 Sugar Subdivision lots at $6,000 each, while also setting the wheels in motion on an agreement with Palm Beach Junior College which would give some $50,000 in benefits to the city.

The commission decided to pattern the agreements to buy lots of Sugar Subdivision on earlier contracts the city signed with buyers of the first lots developed.

The price was based on the estimate the city would pay some $5,815, minus closing costs, to buy and develop each lot so the development be completely contracted.

The city is drawing the money to develop the lots out of a fund created to build a new city hall and fire station and is to be paid back in to the fund as the lots are bought.

Would be purchasers of the lots will find they can only be sold to the person who intends to build and live there and must be paid off in 90 days from the date a $600 deposit is made to the city.

If the lots aren't paid off within 90 days, the city reserves the right to take the lots back and keep the deposit to cover costs. If homes aren't under construction within one year from the date of purchase, the city has a one-year option to buy the lots back at the price paid.

On the Palm Beach Junior College agreement, the city would provide water and sewer to the college under several special conditions, including a requirement the college would pay for lines connecting to a force main now owned by the Belle Glade Housing Authority, construction and dedication of a life station, with extra

Grear, Knoblock blast criticisms

The controversy over the employment of former city manager George Knoblock as a city consultant in several special projects boiled over last week in a city commission workshop session when Knoblock and Mayor William Grear blasted recent new coverage.

"I don't think the City of Belle Glade needs the immature, irresponsible reporting of the Palm Beach Times," Knoblock said. "As far as my salary is concerned, the articles have been inaccurate from the day I started. I only wish Mr. Nachman (Palm Beach Times Bureau Chief L. Nachman) were here so I could see how that (statement) would be reported accurately."

Nachman said the reason he wasn't present to cover the meeting Thursday was that he had been informed it was to be a workshop with the sole purpose of discussing Sugar Sub-division.

"I wasn't here so I couldn't comment on statements I didn't hear," Nachman said. "I contacted June Boglioli (the city clerk) and she said she didn't keep minutes. But anytime any one of the commissioners have anything to say to me, all they have to do is tell me and I'll be there."

Knoblock and Grear were particularly critical of the fact Nachman had written several articles on the first bill Knoblock had presented to the city (for $1,078) which the commission decided not to pay until further details are forthcoming without presenting any of Knoblock's accomplishments in his role as consultant.

Knoblock began his comments with the statement that there were apparently some people who were against his hiring to begin with and Commissioner Aubrey Farmer told him, "That's me, George."

Knoblock told Farmer he felt that the $50,000 benefits accruing to the city on just one deal alone, an agreement he had negotiated with Palm Beach

I pledge allegiance...

Students of St. Peter's Lutheran School salute a flag donated by the Belle Glade American Legion, being raised on a pole also donated by the Legion on their second day of school. The flag and pole are located at the school's old campus and an official ceremony was scheduled for Wednesday. Other pictures on the opening of the 1976 school year are on the Home Front.

Criticism

Junior College to provide water and sewer to the school's new rides campus, more than $100,000 for his first fee.

"That's your opinion," Farmer said. "I don't believe the city should hire consultants."

"I think any fee we pay consultants is wasted," Farmer said. "The city has hired consultants in the past," Grear said, "and it's never been treated like this in one news story after another and frankly, I resent it."

Grear said the reason he came up with the idea of hiring Knoblock as a consultant was because of the rapport he had established with other agencies the city deals with, before he resigned his position as manager.

He pointed out that rapport had come in especially handy on negotiations with the junior college on the one hand and with the Palm Beach County Health Department on the other.

"You can measure the benefit of his negotiations with PBJC," Grear said, "but you can't put a dollar figure on the value of his talks with the health department. He gained the city an indefinite extension on how long the city can operate its solid waste landfill."

When Grear criticized new coverage, or the lack of it, on these projects, Farmer commented that, "I don't print the paper."

"Maybe not," Grear said, "but someone's feeding him information and I'm interested in seeing how this meeting is reported, and he isn't even here."

Grear also said he didn't see how one or two members of the commission could take one stance in an issue while the other three disagreed and the entire city could believe the one or two are invariably right.

Jury district

commission approve it, a separate pool of registered voters would be set up in the Glades from which juries could be selected to allow jury trials in the Glades.

This would mean the fulfillment of Adams' goal since he was appointed to the bench several years ago by Gov. Reubin Askew of providing full court service at the Glades Office Building.

Since he was seated by the governor in 1972, Adams has begun hearing felony trials and juvenile cases and has sat before one coronor's jury impanelled to decide whether the death of a Belle Glade City Jail inmate was accidental.

He agreed to hold up at least one case when Belle Glade Attorney Thomas Montgomery said to transport his client to the coast would be a violation of his civil rights since the jury would almost certainly not be made up of his peers.

Still another innovation Adams has instituted has been to hold, on more than one occasion, court at Glades Central High School in an attempt to educate the students of the local high school on court procedure.

The cases he tried at the high school were actual cases and after he had made his decisions, he asked a number of the students how they would have decided them.

Adams, for the first time since he was appointed to the bench, was up for re-election this year but his name won't appear on the ballot because he is unopposed.

One candidate for one of the two new judgeships, being opened up in Tuesday's election said he had been asked by several people while campaigning in the Glades whether he was running against Adams.

He said he hadn't and commented that it looks as though Adams has the seat.

land to add to it the future if necessary, and dedication of the station to the city.

Under the agreement, PBJC would pay an "imputed fee" of $13,000 to the city.

based on a charge of 41 per gallon per day each for water and sewer, based on an estimated 327 full-time students.

The major holdup in the agreement is the fact the force main is not owned by the city and the city doesn't want to take over ownership, although it has the right to do so. The line runs from Okeechobee Center to Lift Station 13.

The commission, in a special session Monday decided to have Acting City Manager Frank Anderson to contact Belle Glade Housing Authority Director Fred

Simmons to get approval for the hookup.

If that approval can't be given at the administrative level, the commissioner have agreed to ask for special meeting with the Authority Board.

Test seine haul made on Lake Okeechobee by state game officers

A recent experimental haul seine operation on Lake Okeechobee netted over 7,500 pounds of rough, non-game and scale fish, according to game and Fresh Water Fish Commission officials.

Supervised by Commission wildlife officers and fisheries biologists the August 16 test haul removed 4,208 pounds of shad and gar fish. Scale fish totaled 2,211 pounds with 1,278 pounds of catfish.

The experimental harvest was a prelude to the Okeechobee Fisheries Utilization and Management Program (OFUMP), approved by the 1976 Legislature. The project is scheduled to officially begin in October.

The OFUMP project calls for liberalized commercial fishing methods and increased sport fishing pressure to annually harvest an estimated 22 million pounds of fish, presently considered a neglected and wasted resource. Implementation requires mandatory removal of all harvested rough fish and a controlled tagging system for marketable scale fish such as bream and speckled perch. Large-mouth bass are excluded from any commercial harvest.

Joe Blanchard, OFUMP project coordinator, said the test harvest gave the Commission insight into harvest potential of seines on Lake Okeechobee. The effectiveness of both commercial and sport fishing pressure will indicate how well OFUMP will improve sport fishing and retard the nutrient overenrichment process.

Blanchard expressed concern over false reports that hundreds of largemouth bass were lost in the experimental haul seine operation.

Only 14 bass were caught in the seine pocket, Blanchard said. All were dipped from the net and returned to the lake unharmed.

Rough and catfish caught in the test harvest were sold by commercial fishermen to area markets. Scale fish were disposed of by the Commission to area charitable institutions for food purposes.

WHAT KIND OF BELLE GLADE WILL OUR CHILDREN INHERIT?

THIS QUESTION CONCERNS TOM ALTMAN THAT IS WHY...

...He has supported comprehensive planning so that we will be prepared for the growth Belle Glade will experience

...He has advocated revised subdivision regulations that will assure adequate residential development

...He has proposed a self-supporting, city-wide recreational program that will aid in the Physical and mental growth of our young people

...He has demonstrated an aggressive, fiscally responsible position on meeting our water & sewer needs of today that will not leave our citizens of tomorrow with heavy indebtedness

...He has articulated the importance of the agricultural industry to our local economy and future as county agencies study matters of potentially great impact on our farming area

...He has sought to establish a pattern of fairness & equity within the city's decision making framework.

Pot Likker

by R. D. Santee

I do not, as a rule, tender advice to people on personal problems. However, I feel compelled to do so now because of the many letters dispatched to me. I never knew there were so many people out there in such desperate need of counsel.

So, here goes, the first cry for help reads like this:

"Dear Sir,
My gentleman friend has started showing signs of coolness toward me. I cannot understand this. For as long as we've known one another, I have let my feelings show. I have him over almost every night, I cook for him and mend his clothes. This has been going on for sixty-two years. I am eighty-one he is eighty-seven. What should I do?"

Ms. Erable.

My suggestion is to drop this skallaway immediately and move on to greener pastures. You have a long full life ahead of you. Children are not out of the question so find someone who would make a good father and family man. Good luck.

"Dear Mr. S.,
My problem is I don't believe in Montana. I think it's a figment of my imagination. I've never seen a license plate from Montana and I've never met anyone from Montana. Is there really a Montana?"

Virginia
Dear Virginia,
Come to think of it, I too have never seen a license plate from Montana. The only person I've ever seen who claims to be from Montana is Senator Mansfield and he may well be a fictitious creation of the U.S. Government to perpetuate the Montana myth. No Virginia. There is no Montana.

The following is the most heart rendering letter I have yet received.

"My dear kind sir,
I am in a most excruciating quandary. It concerns my fiancé. Two years ago we decided to marry this coming spring. Since that time he has lost a hand in a cane press, the arm on the other side in an auto accident. A part of his nose in a drunken brawl (he accidentally hit himself with the metal hook on his handless arm). He then proceeded to lose both legs in a freak mishap by being run over by a train. Two weeks ago, he lost an ear by slipping while shaving (that darned hook fell off). Now spring approaches and he just lost an eye while whittling on his wooden leg. (A splinter.) He says he still loves me and is looking forward to our upcoming nuptials. He just isn't half the man he used to be. What should I do?"

Engaged
Dear Engaged,
Engaged in what? Why, there isn't enough left to marry! Watch out. When he says he's losing his head over you it could be taken literally. My suggestion is to take out accident and life insurance on what's left.

Can? ...Do!

Can't? ...Criticize

"Those who can," to paraphrase a famous saying, "do. Those who can't, criticize."

But it's still a wondrous thing that amid all the criticism of three members of the city commission for hiring former city manager George Knoblock as a consultant to the city on specified projects, no one has come up with a good alternative.

There also seems to be some oversight of what Knoblock has already accomplished in his role as a consultant.

He was criticized, for instance, for his first voucher of something over $1,000 but no mention was made of a deal with Palm Beach Junior College which means a cash inflow to the city of some $50,000.

His base pay of $12.21 an hour, based on his former yearly salary of $25,400, has been criticized but few people seem aware that according to a contract with the city's new engineers, $12 an hour will be paid to the engineers for services performed by a clerk-typist...and if one alternate company had been chosen, that figure would have been $16 per hour.

At least one of the commissioners, who absented himself from the special session when the decision was made to hire Knoblock as a consultant because, "it would have been a waste of time", has said someone else could have done what Knoblock has since accomplished.

Yet, Knoblock has managed to close an agreement with Glades Correctional Institution on getting a pre-treatment facility installed to pre-treat sewage before injecting it into the city's system. That agreement has been hanging fire for years.

The consultant agreement has been touted as a controversy which is "the main issue" in the upcoming city election, yet no controversy surrounds the extension on the closing of the city's solid waste landfill, with all its benefits to the citizens. And no cash value can be placed on that indefinite extension.

And with all the criticism and abuse being heaped on Mayor William Grear and Commissioners Ralph Kirk and Tom Altman for their hiring of Knoblock, no one has come up with an alternate proposal which would have accomplished what Knoblock has in the time he has.

The idea of retaining a city manager, who has resigned, as a consultant isn't the best of all possible worlds. No one ever said it was. But it beats the hell out of sitting on our collective hands until a new manager is hired.

Hoo Boy! Talk about your moving experiences.

I thought I'd taken some drastic action when I bought a new mobile home a couple of weeks ago and tore down the participation between two rooms to come up with one fair-sized bedroom, turning the old master bedroom into a king-sized junk room.

But what I did was small potatoes compared to what our fearless leaders in Tallahassee did when the governor and members of the cabinet decided to redecorate their offices.

Seems ole Rube raised the roof, or at least the ceiling...just about a foot. Matter of fact, he had one wall moved about another six inches too and all that was to make room for new chandeliers and special drapes.

Then there was Brother Bruce who decided to build a chapel in his office. Must've had something like praying for his political aspirations in mind. Wonder if he calls it the Smathers State Church?

I thought it was pretty nice of the legislature to allow the governor and each of the seven cabinet members $25,000 each to improve the looks of their offices, specially since that's enough for me to have bought my mobile home, a lot to put it on and have a little something left over.

But Rube and Bruce and Phil Ashler, the state treasurer, must have had other things in mind...like Defense Department overruns. Rube spent something like $92,279 on his office and Ashler built up a $70,946 tab.

Guess Phil figured that since he was the treasurer, by golly, he could spend whatever he wanted to and the hell with the cost or such a picaresque $25,000 limit.

The only thing that irks me is that Ashler isn't even running for re-election. He was named to the office by Rube, who won't be able to run again either.

Sure hope Ashler's replacement like his style of interior decorations. I figure that for what he and Rube spent, they needn't have bothered with such things as black walnut paneling and fancy draperies. They could've just covered the walls with portraits of guys like George Washington and Abe Lincoln...called it the green room.

And when you consider that Rube has only two years left in his term, he could've spent that decoration money by burning dollar bills in those fancy chandeliers. Now, if he's out to impress visitors, that should've done it.

One nice thing about it, though, I learned the meaning of an economic term that's baffled me all these many years. I thought I knew what the term "austerity" means but I guess I was completely wrong because that's the king of program Rube says the state's on.

Something else I learned from the deal too. There's an old Brother Dave Gardner joke that's been around for years about, "Why don't you become a preacher, Brother Dave. You could make a million dollars," to which he replies, "Yes, dear heart, but what could a preacher spend it on?"

Now, we know. He could spend it on his office...as an austerity measure.

Had my attention brought to a poster that's been making the rounds lately in the form of a letter to the editor from Joyce Lynn. All I could think of when she brought it in was a line from the rock opera, "Jesus Christ, Super Star."

"Do you really think you are what they say you are?"

Dear Fellow Citizens

WHO DOES JIMMY CARTER THINK HE IS?

It is my sincere hope that after seeing how Jimmy

Carter will allow his supporters to exhibit posters as such, that we as American citizens will not forget our pledge to this Country.

Our great nation was founded by men and women who loved and feared God and knew that it was only by the mercy of God's love that our Country would prosper.

Let's unite together as we go to the polls in November and let's show this blasphemous Jimmy Carter that it is not he who can save America but, people like you and me who can. Let's elect a leadership will use our votes to keep men like him out of office.

Sincerely,
Joyce M. Lynn

Letter to the editor

Dear Sir:

Jimmy Carter is an amateur politician that has been blessed with an abundance of luck, and several qualified campaign aides.

I am truly awed at the large percentage of Americans that have allowed themselves to be "swept off their feet" by the Jimmy Carter smile.

Mr. Carter's career in politics has been a recent one, hopefully his future in it will be as short lived. His expertise in government is nominal, his future, experience hopefully non-existent.

This former school board officer turned governor is running for political office like many politicians do...namely by playing politics...sometimes known as preening before each individual audience what it wants them to hear.

There are those that insist that Carter is indeed interested in the overall, collective good of Americans that he does indeed have Americas interests at heart. That argument is extremely doubtful at best. One thing is for certain, Jimmy Carter is definitely interested in Jimmy Carter. His excessive self interest shows us unmistakably that his voracious interest in power is a means of furthering his self esteem.

On the other hand, President Ford has proven to be a stable, strong, and safe leader. His outstanding abilities in a chaotic crisis proved his talents.

Ford has maintained a firm and consistent stand on most critical issues, rather than one of vacillation and fuzziness. Keep in mind that this is extremely important when one considers the critical and dangerous nature of foreign policy stands.

Ford has assumed an assertive attitude on more insignificant issues. Again, this is in direct opposition to his opponent, whose interest in the composition, the makeup of his audience molded his stands.

Under Ford's leadership, minority groups have enjoyed some of the most ardent strides toward that important goal of equality, and brotherhood for all. Few would deny the fact that Ford leaves a lot to be desired in his speaking abilities. He is not the beautifully polished speaker that Ronald Reagan is. He probably doesn't have the persuasive techniques mastered as well as Carter, but let's keep in mind that running the most respected and powerful government in the world for the past three and a half decades is a tough and formidable task. It is definitely not the type of job that allows oneself time for "polishing".

Ford's charisma, though not as blatant as Carter's, is genuine in my way of thinking. Ford's talents are evidenced in his successful and redoubtable career as one of the most distinguished, courageous, dedicated representatives ever having served in the House.

Jerry Ford's approach to politics can be seen in his past successes, successes owing to ability, rather than an amateurish approach to politics via the inroad of charisma.

Thank you kindly,
Carl T. Cone
Belle Glade, Fla.

P.S. Thank you, Mr. Editor for allowing me to express this opinion.

This tongue-in-cheek poster — depicting Jimmy Carter done up as Jesus Christ — is proving a big hit with Carter supporters. The two artists who created it, Robert Conzella and Russell Mehlman, sold between 6,000 and 7,000 copies at $1.50 each at the Democratic Convention and around Madison Square Garden in New York on the night of Carter's nomination and the following day. Even Sen. George McGovern bought one. Leonard Sherman, a spokesman for the company that produces the poster, said another 25,000 have been printed.

location on the lake for boating and camping. The camp grounds have been a fine revenue producing project. I believe that some of these funds should be used to improve the camping area and marina. In terms of electrical problems in the camping area, improved boat ramps and vehicle parking. Also, a safer and larger playground is needed.

GROUP TWO

David Day
The organization, there must be unity and understanding for that organization to exist and thrive. Each and every member must operate and have an open mind in order that satisfactory goals may be obtained. Even in disagreements, the members must be able to accept and understand another's viewpoint without anger or discouragement. As your City Commissioner, I would support to work closely with the administration for the betterment of our city and its people.

Last week, I made a comment on the recreational program. I would like to comment on some of the use of our tax money that is used in the city. If elected as City Commissioner, I would be mindful in spending city money on salaries and expenses for people who are not qualified to do the job. I'm not talking the job to suit the person. If you don't stand for something, you might fall for anything. I'm not talking about money when it comes to financial matters.

Ralph Kirk
1. The City Commission, to the best of its ability, exercises judgment in expressing his will of the people. The Commission establishes policy to reflect needs and solutions as they see it and as expressed by public opinion. The Administration has the responsibility to make these policies work within the established framework of local government. Each also has the responsibility to keep all lines of communication open at all times. I have always encouraged a spirit of cooperation and a good working relationship rather than adversary roles. I will continue to work to that end.

2. The key here is having a plan. Our approach should be to develop a city-wide recreational plan which considers the needs of all our citizens. We must not create and develop recreational facilities merely to satisfy interest groups or simply because it is easy to do this park or that tennis court. Certainly, there are obvious needs and what seem to be obvious answers. But we have learned that often that which appears so obvious is not always the best.

I propose to encourage development of a city-wide recreational plan which will consider such things as the marina, parks, tennis courts, bicycle paths, swimming pools and ball fields to mention only a few areas. There appear to be both planning and financial assistance available from several sources. Finally, I have learned the benefits which accrue as a result of responsible citizen participation and intend to have our recreation plan developed using this method and not by outside "experts" working alone.

Jerry Roberts
In establishing a working relationship with the city administration, it is imperative to create a two-way conduit that will allow communications to flow both formally and informally at its appropriate time. Success in problem-solving dictates that all parties involved must possess the ability to get the other person's point of view. Like hand in glove, the administration should work toward getting the best of the most prudent that the budget will permit with the commissioners' realization that while having an open door with each department head, the administration, I would, admonish them to follow the proper channels, that is, keep the city manager informed of meetings and content. The approach to recreation tion should be handled as any other phase of city management. An assessment of need, based upon impact study considering available resources, should determine to what extent the city gets involved.

Joe Steele
The City Commission is the same as the board of directors of a private company. The commissioners should set policies and direct them to the city manager and he should direct them to his department heads. They should see that the directives are accomplished. If they aren't, the city commissioners should ask the city manager why they aren't accomplished. Commissioners shall not interfere directly with any department head's work.

The city should take a big part in supervised recreation. The city should take a big part in supervised recreation all over town. We can put a supervisor in the field cheaper than we can put a police officer on the streets and it would be a lot better for the children too.

Absentee ballots are now ready

Absentee Ballots for the Sept. 7 Primary Election and non-partisan Judicial and School Board Elections are now available at the Supervisor of Elections Office at 810 Datura Street, West Palm Beach, and the Glades Office Building at 2976 State Road #15, Belle Glade.

Information on absentee balloting is enclosed. The new Computer Election Systems voting system will be used for all absentee balloting in the county. Included with each voter's absentee ballot will be complete instructions for voting with the new system. All the computer card absentee ballots will be counted on the tabulating equipment on the day after the election.

Although only Democrats may vote in the Democratic Primary and only Republicans may vote in the Republican Primary, all registered voters, including those who registered Independent and minority party affiliations, may vote for the non-partisan Judicial and School Board candidates.

Scout news

A number of Cub Scout packs will be holding special roundups during the coming month in an effort to involve more young boys between the ages of 8 and 10 in the program.

John Cowart, the West Glades District Scouting Coordinator, invited all boys in the third grade or up to bring their parents to the park meeting being held near their home.

He said posters are being distributed within schools, churches, and around the communities for specific locations. He said further information can be obtained by calling 996-1028.

Specific events coming up this month are headed up on Sept. 9 when cub scouts will hold their school night.

Other events include Troop Rally Nights from Sept. 9 through Oct. 31 and a District Scout Camporee at Port Mayaca on Oct. 22-24.

I propose to encourage development of a city-wide recreational plan which will consider such things as the marina, parks, tennis courts, bicycle paths, swimming pools and ball fields to mention only a few areas. ## Mrs. Luce hosts luncheon for Xi Beta Gamma

Mrs. Mendal Luce was hostess for the "Beginning Day Luncheon" of Xi Beta Gamma Chapter Saturday at 12:30 at her home, 801 NE First Street.

Sea shells were featured in the table arrangements. The salad buffet included congealed and meat salads, home-made zucchini squash, home-grown items of tomatoes and avocados, and a desert of fresh fruits in watermelon basket.

Plans were discussed as to the chapter assisting with the classroom needs of the deaf children being taught in the Exceptional Children's Unit at Grove School under the direction of Mrs. Rosa Nash, one of the members present.

Support was also discussed for the embryonic organization Association for Retarded Citizens in the Glades, and the local Festival for Mental Health the first Saturday in April. Other members attending were: Mrs. Lorenzo Connell, Mrs. Francis W. Cross, Jr., Mrs. Wm. Graber, Mrs. Betty Kidder, and Mrs. Clarence Pate. Mrs. Luce is social chairman of the chapter for the current year, and Mrs. Kidder is a member of her committee.

Fishing on the lake

Fishing showed some improvement in the Belle Glade area over the past week according to Nan Corbin of Slim's Fish Camp, with nice catches of both bass and bluegills coming in to Slim's.

Early morning and late afternoon seems to be the best times for fishing at the present time, and most bass fishermen are relying on the Devil's Horse as the best bait.

Willie James Williamson of Belle Glade and his fishing buddy brought in their limits of bluegills on Saturday using live worms.

John Freeman of Belle Glade reported a 9 pound bass on Saturday using a Devil's Horse in the long point area.

John and Mary Dipold of Belle Glade reported a 9 pound bass on Wednesday ranging in size to 7 pounds 9 ounces each, using Devil's Horse.

Homer Carr of Belle Glade tried out his new bass boat for the first time on Monday and reported that he landed three nice bass which he threw back. "Seems Mrs. Carr is ill and doesn't like to clean fish."

The upcoming Labor Day weekend should be a great time to get out on the lake with the whole family for a little fishing fun.

Wayne Stanley seeded No. 1

Wayne Stanley, co-quarterback on the 1972-73 Glades Central state championship football team, is entering fall football practice at Iowa State University as the likely number one quarterback. Stanley, who started at ISU in 1973 and 1974, was redshirted last year after a minor knee injury before the first game put him behind in the battle with Buddy Hardeman, who he again is competing with for the starting nod.

"The redshirt year has really helped Wayne," Head Coach Earl Bruce said. "He has matured a great deal and is much more of a leader now. In fact, he was elected a co-captain by the squad in the spring."

Stanley is rated as the Cyclones' best passer, and Bruce has indicated that ISU will pass more this season, as much as 30 times a game.

Lassie League news

Despite prevailing rain and thunderous skies, the Glades Lassie League marked the end of the first half of the softball season last Saturday evening with the Blue Bombers losing their first game and the Tigers edging the Glades Orioles 15-11.

In the first game, the Glades Orioles led off with six runs as Mary Lynn Thompson, Lisa Ferguson, Paige Poole, Kelly Teets, Joellen Usher and Kathy Tuell scored. The Tigers came back with five in the bottom of the inning when Lily Blanchard, Deanna Tanner, Sheila Leashley, Julie Conington and Shelly Stiffen rounded the bases.

The Orioles added another run in the next inning when Paige Poole slid into homeplate under the catcher's tag, but the Tigers stayed with them as Anna Keesee came in to make it 7-6 after two innings. It became 10-6 an inning later, with Lee Ann Sticker, Brooke Tuell and Mindy Leash scoring and then the Tigers were held to three consecutive outs with a player stranded on second base.

to wind up women's softball season

Wallis wallops All-stars 3-

by Karen Hansford
Wallis Pharmacy wrapped up the 1976 season with a three to two victory over the Team B All-Stars despite an over-the-fence homerun by Donna Jean Garcia last Thursday evening at the Canal Point ballpark.

Garcia was the third girl, and the first in two years, to knock the ball over the leftfield fence. It was the first of a two-run rally by the Team B All-Stars in the fifth inning, with Kim Miller planning the second run on Julia Clement's hit. Both teams had been held scoreless the first four innings, with no runner getting past first base. Wallis Pharmacy evened the score in the bottom of the fifth inning when Ronnie Pike walloped a two-base hit over the centerfielder's head, causing Rhonni Cox and Jayne Meadows to score.

Team B threatened again in the next inning with runners on first and second and one out, but an unassisted double play by first baseman Ronnie Pike provided the needed outs.

The game remained tied as the two teams were held to a standoff in the sixth and seventh innings, forcing an extra inning - the first game all season which had to be played in extra innings. Loading the bases on errors and base hits, the Team B All-Stars failed to capitalize as Donna Garcia fled out to shortstop Karen Hansford for the third out. The winning run came in for Wallis as Doris Velez and Barbara Morgan rapped out singles and Barbara Hartog moved the base hit into leftfield to knock Velez in for the go-ahead score.

The game marked the end of the season for the Glades Women's Softball League, however, the official will be Friday night when the league has a final game at the A. J. Pavilion at the Belle Glade. Trophies will be given to deserving players and several business men will be discussed the league will wrap for another year.

Tax relief seen ahead for property owners

GAINESVILLE -- Property owners may see some tax relief -- or at least no higher taxes -- but there may be an increase in sales taxes, State Sen. Phil Lewis said here today.

Lewis spoke to more than 100 top Florida agricultural leaders at the 1976 Florida Farm Bureau Federation advisory committee meetings.

"Taxes on private property owners are becoming nearly confiscatory in some places," said Lewis.

The 46-year-old real estate executive said more educational funding will be needed next year because of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that all counties receive an equal pro-rated share of the state's educational dollars.

"The concept was implemented in the 1968 Constitution," said Lewis. "We'll make an attempt to close in on equalization next session with more state dollars and less local real estate taxes, so that the child in Dade County will have the same amount of money spent on him as the child in small Levy County."

The state will probably try to relieve the local taxpayers of that responsibility which could mean lower millage rates. "But we'll have to replace the tax money lost with other taxes," Lewis said.

One way could be a one-cent increase in sales tax, Lewis later suggested. He said there was pressure during the last legislative session to increase taxes. "We were able to hold them down, but the toughest part of serving in the legislature is to be able to withstand the pressure to increase taxes."

On a proposal to set up an emergency pesticide control fund to provide money to eradicate pests, Lewis commented:

Certainly there should be some kind of fund so you can get money when the legislature is out of session." Lewis, chairman of the Senate Education Committee and vice-chairman of the Rules and Calendar Committee, represents District 27, one of the largest districts in the state consisting of Palm Beach, Lee, Hendry, Martin, St. Lucie and Indian River counties.

Following his speech, FFBF's 12 committees met to discuss agricultural issues including agricultural assessment, coastal wetlands regulation, property rights, school financing, farm labor relations and brucellosis. The committees are citrus, dairy, honey, labor, livestock, natural resources, ornamental horticulture, peanuts, poultry, swine, tax and tobacco.

Policy recommendations from these advisory committees will be sent to FFBF President Walter J. Kautz and the state board of directors for their consideration. In October, Florida Farm Bureau's State Resolutions Committee, composed of all 64 county Farm Bureau presidents, will meet in Gainesville to discuss the recommendations.

In turn, Farm Bureau's voting delegates will vote on the policies at the Florida Farm Bureau's annual convention in Orlando Oct. 24-26.

We the People set at Ev. Fed.

"We, the People," a study of Floridians at work and play in pictures from the State Photographic Archives, will be on display in the lobby of Everglades Federal Savings and Loan Association's main office in Belle Glade for two weeks beginning September 1, 1976, during the regular hours of the Association.

This photographic show is a Bicentennial observance sponsored by Florida State University and the FSU Revolutionary Bicentennial Celebration Committee in cooperation with members of the Florida Savings and Loan League, Inc., and is being made available to about 25 Florida communities during 1976.

All aspects of life in Florida from 1845 to the present are represented in the collection, from the styles of early explorers to those of the space scientists of the present, from sharecroppers and migrant workers to millionaire industrialists.

The exhibit includes copies of Daguerrotypes, dating from the 1840's, ambrotypes, tintypes, and photoprints from glass-plate negatives. Virtually every aspect of Florida's early history that survives in pictorial images is represented in the collection.

LABOR DAY

Hard-working pioneers have left us many remembrances of their labor. They have bestowed on us a nation... founded on physical and mental work. They tamed a wilderness... farmed virgin soil... laid the foundations of our great cities. Like us, they had chosen vocations, and like us, they had set goals. Today, as we celebrate Labor Day, let's remember how essential each one of us is in the further development of our country.

Same school...

...second day

There was no problem with them. No siree! By golly they were old hands at this school stuff by now. This was Tuesday and they'd finished their first day Monday and they were already looking forward to their summer vacation. (Now if I can get this crayon out of my eye, I just know I can draw that line a little straighter.) Matter of fact, like the little miss to the lower left, some of the kindergartners at St. Peter's Lutheran School were getting kinda bored by it all. On the other hand, the little fella to the right decided he'd rather watch the photographer than play a game with the others. The game involved learning to count by singing a song. (No, it wasn't 99 Bottles of Beer on the Wall.) The pictures were taken in the kindergarten classes of Mrs. Suzanne Munter and Mrs. Susan Hamas, starting Merianne Morgan, Lora Beth Barker, Jonathan Olson, John David Busbee, Timmy Munter, Joel Springer, Larry Underwood, Sutt Austin, Brad Larsen, Leslie Meredith, Tina Miller, George Patton, Gary White Brenda Nehls, Jennifer Allen and Angie Evans.

Sims visits Belle Glade

State Sen. Walter Sims, the only opponent to Dr. John Grady in the Republican battle to see who will face Democratic Senator Lawton Chiles in the Nov. 2 general election, was in Belle Glade last week and expressed confidence he could defeat both Grady and Chiles.

Sims was guest of honor at a reception held Thursday evening at the Palm Club and was one of the Republican candidates who were guests at a Glades Republican Club rally Friday night.

Sims said the reason he had invaded Grady's home town was because he felt he had "a duty and responsibility to take my message to everybody in Florida."

Sims is a first term senator representing the Orlando area and he said he is running on his four-year record. He is vice-chairman of the state Senate Transportation Committee.

Ex-payroll clerk pleads guilty

A former Belle Glade payroll clerk, pled guilty Monday on one count of grand larceny and one count of forgery during her arraignment before County Judge Don Adams in the Glades Office Building.

Assistant State Attorney Michael Miller said Mrs. Sandra Westberry of 500 Orange Circle T-20 was released on her own recognizance pending a pre-sentence investigation. "The State will recommend five years probation on the condition she repay $4,000.33 to the City of Belle Glade within two years," Miller said.

He said Mrs. Westberry is to be adjudicated guilty of the theft of that amount of money in city payroll fund during her employment.

Acting City Manager Frank Anderson told the city commissioners Monday he is still in the process of checking with the bonding company to see what the bonding company will do in the matter.

Anderson said he attempted twice Friday to contact the company to no avail. Anderson said earlier

Mrs. Westberry was employed by the city on Mar. 17, 1975 and her employment was terminated June 25 of this year when she walked out.

Anderson contacted Miller on June 28 and turned the case over to him and investigator Ted Keys. Charges were filed Aug. 12 and Mrs. Westberry was arrested Aug. 17.

Punt, pass, kick one week off

There is only one week remaining for youngsters in the Belle Glade - South Bay area to register for the local Punt, Pass & Kick competition according to coordinator Clarence Throop.

Throop, who has coordinated the competition for Watson Ford for the past several years, said registration would continue through Friday, Sept. 10. The competition is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Sept. 11 in front of the Watson dealership.

"Although time is growing short," Throop said, "any youngster 8 through 13 years of age can still compete. All a contestant needs to do is come to our dealership with a parent or guardian and fill out the PP&K registration form. There's no entry fee or charge of any kind, and that goes for all six levels of competition, up to and including the National Finals."

Throop said trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place in the local competition in each of the six age groups.

Increasing the youngster's chances of winning one of the 18 trophies is the fact each contestant competes only against others of the same age...

same age...and since there's no body contact, an entrant's size isn't as important as his ability to punt, pass and place-kick for distance and accuracy.

"Winners can continue on up through the zone, district, area and division contests to the National Finals," Throop said. "It contains helpful pointers from the pros on punting, passing and kicking. In the 1976 edition are suggestions from NFL stars Ray Guy, Ken Anderson and Tobin Frisch. Complete PP&K rules and suggested conditioning exercises for contestants are also included."

This is the 16th anniversary year for PP&K. From its inception, the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America in conjunction with the National Football League. In that time, more than 12 million youngsters have taken part in PP&K, making it one of the largest and fastest growing activities of its kind in America.

Audubon Society field trip ready

The Lake Okechobee Audubon Society will take a morning field trip on Saturday, according to Mrs. Marguerite Rife, secretary of the group.

Mrs. Rife said the group will leave from the parking lot at the east side of the swimming pool in Clewiston at 6:15 a.m. and plans are to go to LaBelle via routes 832, 846, 833 and 29. She said picnic tables are located near SR80, in Eastern LaBelle.

Mrs. Rife said the field trip will kick off the society's fall activities.

Tuppen's ribbon cut

Belle Glade Mayor William Grear started the festivities Friday when he used a Gerber knife to cut the ribbon for the grand opening of the first Glades branch of Tuppen's. The sporting goods store owner, Ron Tuppen (standing behind Grear on the far right) presented the knife to the mayor as a memento of the occasion. Shortly after Grear cut the ribbon at 10 a.m., Tuppen's first customers were streaming into the sports emporium to see what kind of bargains were being offered.

East Indians visit

A delegation of East Indian sugarcane growers, managers and technicians of sugar mills toured the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida mill last week as part of an overall visit of the Florida sugar industry. Also included in the group were officers of sugar cooperatives and officials of the state and federal government of India. Other places the group visited were the Canal Point Sugarcane Field Station and the Agricultural Research and Education Center in Belle Glade.

Glades residents made money on tin cans

Volume totals for the first six months of this year show 72,623 pounds of aluminum recycled by Belle Glade's Ecology-minded citizens.

For their recycling efforts, Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Company paid them $10,893.45.

During September, the public will continue to receive 15 cents a pound for their aluminum every Thursday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at City Park, 500 W. Canal St.

According to Dave Vardell, Reynolds District Manager for aluminum recycling, on a nationwide basis during the first six months of 1976, the company collected a record 53 million pounds of aluminum.

This nationwide six-month figure represents a 37 per cent increase over the first six months of last year, added Vardell.

In addition to 72 permanent recycling facilities,

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co. operates 128 mobile recycling units. It operates in 45 states with a total of over 700 aluminum collection points.

Baker running for Port Commish

Port Commission Chairman, Dr. Tom Baker, has filed for re-election for the Port Commission, Republican Group 3.

Dr. Baker has been active in local and civic affairs, having served as president of the Glades Republican Club, Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, and Canal Hazards Safety Committee. He has served on the Palm Beach County Housing Authority and is at present president of the Palm Beach County Leased Housing Corporation, the funding agency for the two projects run by the PBCHA.

Dr. Baker has been in active practice of Chiropractic in Belle Glades since 1950. He is married and has grown children, a daughter and two sons.

Dr. Baker said the commission has consistently reduced taxes since he has been a member of the commission and this year the tax has been completely eliminated.

HOW POLARIS® CAN IMPROVE SUGAR MILL EFFICIENCY.

The amount of raw sugar that goes out of your mill is influenced greatly by the quality of cane that comes in. Better quality cane can improve your mill efficiency.

One new way Florida growers are delivering better quality cane is with Polaris® Plant Growth Regulator by Monsanto, the chemical that stimulates sugar cane ripening.

In 1975, Polaris improved pol an average of 1.42 points and purity an average of 1.45 points. Because of improved leaf desiccation, cane treated with Polaris normally burns better.

To learn more about how Polaris can help your growers deliver higher quality cane, contact your Monsanto representative or the distributor for Polaris in your area for the full details.

As with all agricultural products, always read and follow the Polaris label.

Continental Army dealt a crushing defeat at the hands of Howe

By Jerome Turk & Wm. D. Ellis
THE HEIGHTS OF BROOKLYN, N.Y., Aug. 23, 1776 - Some 9,500 of Gen'l George Washington's men are melting soundlessly to safety in the fog on the East River tonight.
They are, provisionally, escaping a trap.
Although two generals, 89 other officers - and about 1,300 American soldiers have been bitten off & chewed up in the jaws of Sir William Howe's 20,000 deployed British & Hessian troops, the Continental Army will live to fight again - if it has the heart for it.
Northeast winds, driving rain & now tonight's shroud of fog have cooperated to cover both Gen'l Washington's tactical mistake & the strange flotilla of troops being ferried over to Manhattan island by Col. John Glover's seafaring Marblehead, Mass. regiment.

The Americans are bobbing through the mist aboard fishing boats, barges, rowboats - even canoes.

Adverse winds have kept Royal Navy warships from sailing up the East River to get behind this half of the Continental Army entrenched on Brooklyn Heights. Howe himself has shown a mystifying reluctance to pursue his easy victory of two days ago here on Long Island.
Worried about a possible invasion of Manhattan, Gen'l Washington had split his forces, with the East River between them. It could have been a fatal mistake.

With professional brilliance, Howe two days ago swept northward through unguarded Jamaica Pass to surprise & flank the outer screen of defenses commanded by Maj. Gen'l John Sullivan. Sullivan surrendered quickly after the dawn assault.

To Sullivan's right, an American force fought fiercely & bravely under Brig. Gen'l William Alexander (who is, oddly in this republican army, called "Lord Stirling" because of his claim to a defeated Scottish peerage).

Lord Stirling was also captured, but only after the Maryland & Delaware regiments he led had stood firm against the British Regulars.

To cover the withdrawal, Stirling held 200 Marylanders under Major Mordecai Gist, who made six counterattacks against British grenadiers & the killed 42nd Black Watch before the Americans were cut to pieces. Only Gist & nine Marylanders of the 200 were able to fight their way back to the earthworks on these heights.

British losses are said to be about 60 killed, 280 wounded & 30 missing. Stirling & Sullivan are now reported to be prisoners aboard H.M.S. Eagle, the 64-gun flagship of Admiral Lord Richard Howe, the army commander's brother.

At the water's edge tonight, a near-catastrophe caused by a mix-up of orders among the amateur soldiers was narrowly averted.

In a rare open display of temper, Gen'l Washington galloped up on his gray horse & halted a column of men led by Thomas Mifflin, once Washington's aide & now the Army's quartermaster general.

"Good God!" exclaimed Washington. "General Mifflin, I am afraid you have ruined us by unseasonably withdrawing the troops from the lines!" Mifflin's men were supposed to remain as the last sentries at the earthworks.

With an equal outburst, Mifflin swore that he was withdrawing on the General's own order, received by mistake through a Washington aide.

Gen'l Washington hastily dispatched Mifflin's column back to the unguarded lines until the confused crowds at the water's edge were aboard boats.

The exhausted General himself will shortly board one of the last boats. And so will I, wondering if the commander in chief has heard the mutterings of the men, particularly the militia, who are resolving not to fight again but to go home. By companies & even whole regiments.

Gen'l Washington's greatest test may not lie in meeting the British but in keeping this army of the United States together. In heaven's name, I hope the man can do it. Just as I hope that my wayward colleague, William Ellis, will soon arrive from somewhere in the back country to help report it.

EPA rule making must be public

By Doyle Conner

I don't believe I could have expressed it any better than Nathan Chandler, agricultural consultant to the administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in a recent talk on Federal or other agency regulations. Here is what he said:
"When Congress or a state or local legislative body develops a statute, it is in the regulated trouble drafted in general terms to allow the department or lead agency the flexibility to adopt the necessary rules, regulations, guidelines and other requirements for implementing the particular law. The agency or department then proceeds to do this in most cases trying to be reasonable and trying to interpret the legislation without causing unnecessary adverse effects on the regulated party."

Therefore no single regulation of itself, while it may cause some economic pain and anguish, is likely to permanently disable an industry or a small businessman or farmer.
"But when one measures the combined effect of many statutes - each interpreted independently by a different agency or each adding an incremental financial load in the regulated trouble begins to appear. And it isn't always a financial load directly - but sometimes it is measured in terms of aggravation caused by unnecessary paperwork, or implementing the particular law. The agency or department then proceeds to do this in most cases trying to be reasonable and trying to interpret the legislation without causing unnecessary adverse effects on the regulated party."

businessman or farmer put up with before he either throws up his hands and quits or the angry backlash against the institutions which he is supporting with his own hard-earned tax dollars.
The federal laws are enacted by Congress, an elected body responsible to an easily identified constituency. Unfortunately, the execution of statutes is carried out by people in departments and agencies who do not answer to a constituency. These people can not be identified by the public, they are not responsible to the public, and they cannot be removed from office by the public. It is therefore essential that the rule-making process be opened to public scrutiny and public involvement at every step of the process, and this is exactly what the present administrator of EPA intends to do."

"My automobile insurance has doubled too, and I see people being priced out of the market. There's no easy solution, but we've got to attack fraud and waste and look closely at no fault. We must dig deep at the root causes of spiraling car insurance costs."

LABOR DAY
Three each year our nation sets aside a day in honor of its working people. And rightly so. Our land is rich in natural resources, but it is the skill of our people in converting these materials into useful goods that truly makes it rich. And it is the willingness of our people to labor that has enabled us to become the strongest and most advanced nation in all of history.
The fact that our citizens have the freedom to choose the type of work each feels best suited for, increases the willingness to work. The right and privilege to change type or place of labor for personal gain is another in the long list of advantages our citizens may claim.
This Labor Day, let us reflect that it is the WILLINGNESS TO WORK on the part of our people that has brought our nation to its present stature and has provided all the goods and services we enjoy. And while we rest a while from our labors, let us resolve to continue a willingness to work so that our nation will never again decline.

GLADES CHURCH NEWS

THE HERALD WELCOMES NEWS ITEMS FROM YOUR CHURCH EACH WEEK.
CALL 996-2056 NOT LATER THAN TUESDAY NOON FOR PUBLICATION THURSDAY.

Mt. Zion had special Sunday

For most members of the Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church of Belle Glade, last Sunday was a day of rest, from worship that is. For others it was a day of travel and worship. The Laymen's Organization of the local church traveled to Hurst Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church of Perrine to share in the morning worship and the South Florida Conference Laymen's Organization fifth Sunday meeting, the final meeting in this conference year.

The Rev. Charles Robinson, pastor of the Mount Zion Church, along with choir and usher boards two and three, and other members of the congregation traveled to Mount Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church, Mandarin, of Jacksonville by way of chartered Trailways Bus, to render service at 3 p.m. in the South Side.

This marked Rev. Robinson's first return to this church, which he pastored for several years while matriculating at Edward Waters College of Jacksonville. His coming generated such enthusiasm that a standing room only crowd awaited them upon their arrival, with several people having to remain on the outside during the service. The congregation was most receptive to the singing by the choir, who were at their best, and quiet responsive to the message delivered by pastor Robinson, who preached from the subject: "How Sweet It Is To Be Loved By God."

For the Mount Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church of Jacksonville, it was a day of spiritual uplifting, and financial success as the offerings of the day totaled $1,400.

And for the local church to have to travel over 300 miles one way just to worship God, certainly had to strengthen our faith, for after all: "The Lord has promised good to me, His word my hope secures."

Services held for R.B. Woodham

Funeral services for Robert Burnon Woodham, 62, a pioneer resident of the Glades, were held Aug. 28 at South Bay Baptist Church with the Rev. Alex Pasetti and the Rev. Frank E. Woodham officiating. Woodham moved to the Glades from Ozark, Alabama in 1930, making his residence at 270 S.W. Sixth Ave. in South Bay. He died Aug. 28 at Glades General Hospital.

He went into the produce farming business when he moved to the Glades, later becoming associated with John B. Armstrong at their ranch in Moore Haven. He transferred to the Big B Ranch on US27, where he worked until his retirement. He was a member of the South Bay Baptist Church. Survivors include his widow, Laura Grace Wood-ham; one son, H. A. "Tony" Woodham of Belle Glade; two daughters, Rebecca Bedsole of Belle Glade and Robbie Woodham of South Bay; one brother, James Howard Woodham of South Bay and two sisters, Lottie Broome of Ozark, Ala. and Sison Summerlin of South Bay.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. at the funeral home of Scott Woodham, Mark Woodham, Brent Woodham, Kandy Woodham, Jerry Woodham, Gary Broome, Don Stubbs, Kenneth Harris, George McIlroy, Larry Norman, Kirby Norman, Gary Norman, Lynn Norman, Dale Norman, Neil Wilson, Jack Newsome, Walter Morris and Richard Morris. Burial was held at the Evergreen Cemetery in Okeechobee, Mixson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

My New Day

This sunrise is created by Thee, O Lord,
With the sky all rose and gold,
Hails a bright new day never lived before,
A day only one hour old;
With its golden hours untarnished,
Tis a treasure-trove for me;
A day to live and love and serve,
A gift to return to Thee.
